

iOS Developer / CTO for a Mobile Startup

Who we are

NOCK will be a mobile application, which eliminates the awkwardness of getting in touch with new people in the real world. We will achieve this by connecting groups of friends. Bringing people together offline is one of the fastest growing sectors of the Internet. We are looking for a dedicated and experienced iOS developer who wants to join our team to build a great product with us. For us working in the team is not just about being productive, it is also about having a beer together. We are currently based at the betahaus (Co-working space in Kreuzberg, Berlin).

What we offer

- An awesome idea & concept
- A challenging position as the startup's technical leader
- Monetary compensation & company shares
- Finished layouts & backend
- Enough space for your own creativity and ideas
- Work with a qualified team on an innovative product
- Flexible working environment
- Startup-Network, fun & passion

What we are looking for

- Reliability & Honesty
  - Berlin based or intention to move to Berlin
  - Availability, as soon as possible!
  - Experienced iOS developer, skilled in Objective-C
  - Development, maintenance, testing, and optimization of the application
  - Working knowledge of web technologies, including APIs and protocols (e.g. REST, JSON)
  - Ideally, experience with backend development (Node.js, Express, MongoDB)
  - Speaking fluent english is required, german is a plus
